

Aug 18, 1227

The Mongol conqueror
Genghis Khan died.

Aug 1227

While enroute to punish the rebellious Tanguts of Northwest China Genghis Khan died.

His policies : Religious tolerance

① Recruited & employed foreigners in his army & in his administration

② Issued a set of rules and rules for his people. Capital punishment for horse theft
Severe sanctions on disobedient soldiers

④ Promoted trade

He ordered the development of the first Mongol written language.

1227

1912 Dates J-BK

Italy & Germany

Crusade was begun but broken up by a contagious disease.

~~1229~~ 1227

Genghis Khan died.

At his death, he had become the greatest conqueror the world had ever seen, and the foundations had been laid of the vast Mongol empire, stretching over China, India, the Near East and parts of Europe, that his successors were to build with astonishing speed in less than half a century.

1227

Benghis Khan died as his army destroyed the Kingdom of Xi Xia.

Aug. 1227

Death of Genghis

In August, somewhere south of YINCHUANO, Genghis died. He was probably 60. Accounts say his body was borne to Mongolia for burial near a mountain called Burkhan Khaldun. Forty "moonlike virgins" and 40 horses were killed & buried with him. To discourage grave robbers, a thousand horsemen are said to have trampled the site until it could not be forced. It should marches still.

He requested to be don a united Mongolia and the most powerful army in the world.
His arm and ground would send the army adding over into Russia & China & other farther. The emperors would find they had only one dangerous foe: one another

1227

1912 Dates J-BK

Italy & Germany

Battle of BORNHÖVEDE
Danes are decisively defeated.

Aug. 1227

Nat. History Oct 94

Khan of all between the oceans
Genghis Khan was buried @ BURKHAN KHALDUN (Buddha Cliff) in northeastern Mongolia.

Commanding a military force that never exceeded 200,000 troops
this Mongol ruler had united the nomadic Mongol tribes and initiated the conquest of territory stretching from Korea to Hungary and from Russia to modern Vietnam & Syria.

they could not have done this without their diminutive but extremely hardy steeds. In some respects these resembled what is now known as PRZEKŁASKI's
hose

1227-1241

179th pope Gregory IX
Anagni, Italy. A great & saintly
Pope, who defended the honor and rights of the Church against the tyrannical Frederick II of Germany.

1227

Gregory IX Pope.

Frederick embarks on Crusade, but returns.

Jenghiz Khan died. Ogdoi succeeds.

Aug 18, 1227

The Mongol conqueror Genghis
Khan died.